Biography

Based in Rotterdam, De Zuid has spent the past three years honing a potent blend of alt-rock, power blues, and indie grit.

Fronted by Aussie singer-guitarist Shannon Lake - all gritty vocals and searing riffs - the band draws on Manuel Teijeiro's raw, riff-heavy guitar work, Michel de Groot's deep, pulsing bass, and Italian drummer Nicola Maisano's relentless, driving rhythms.

Drawing on the feral bite of The Stone Foxes, the hook-smart swagger of The Raconteurs, and the heavy blues thump of The Cold Stares, De Zuid molds those influences into something unmistakably their own.

With cross-continental chemistry and original songs built for rooms and stages, they are ready to bring a fresh gust to the rock scene.
